Welcome to PantherExpress

What is PantherExpress?

University of Pittsburgh Financial Operations has consolidated web and customer service resources for PantherBuy, Payment Processing, and Purchasing Services under one umbrella called PantherExpress.

Instead of visiting three individual websites and contacting staff from three departments to handle customer service inquiries, you will have access to the same excellent resources through one website and one customer service center.

What is new right now?

- The PantherExpress website will go live in May 2012. Watch a preview of the new website.
- PantherExpress Customer Service is up and running now.

What is coming soon?

- Expanded PantherBuy system options will be available soon. More information will be provided this summer. Please check back for updates.
