UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH DEFINITION OF RATE TYPES

Sponsored Research Grants and Contracts

Sponsored research is defined as research and development activities that are sponsored by Federal, non-Federal and not-for-profit agencies and organizations. Research and development activities of an institution are designed via protocol to produce research outcomes and are separately budgeted and accounted for. Research is defined as a systematic study directed toward fuller scientific knowledge or understanding of the subject studied. Development is the systematic use of knowledge and understanding gained from research directed toward the production of useful materials, devices, systems, or methods, including design and development of prototypes and processes. For purposes of F&A cost rate development, sponsored research excludes research training awards discussed below under sponsored instructional programs.

Sponsored Instructional Programs

Sponsored instruction and training is defined as specific instructional or training activity for the benefit of students of the University established by grant, contract or cooperative agreement that are sponsored by Federal, non-Federal and not-for-profit agencies and organizations. Sponsored instruction includes Research Training Awards that provide the training of individuals in research techniques where such activities utilize the same physical University resources as other research and development activities.

Other Sponsored Activities

Other sponsored activities are defined as activities that are sponsored by Federal, non-Federal, and not-for-profit agencies and organizations which involve the performance of work other than instruction and organized research. Such projects can include sponsored public service projects that benefit the public at large or special public sectors within the general public community. Specific examples include:

- community health service projects that evaluate the health related impact of infectious diseases, workplace and environmental issues, infant mortality, stroke and heart disease, radiation safety, etc.
- non-health community service programs that evaluate social or economic impacts
- clinical trials
- IPA agreements
- Head Start, Upward Bound and similar youth service programs
- training of teachers, administrators and other individuals, as well as curriculum development and enhancement that benefit students at other educational institutions.

UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH
DEFINITION OF RATE TYPES

Sponsored Industrial/Commercial Programs

Sponsored industrial/commercial activities are defined as any research, instructional or other sponsored activities sponsored by industrial and commercial for-profit entities that are not providing Federal pass-through funds to the University.

APPLICATION OF F&A COST RATES

A. General

1. The rates shown in Exhibit I are effective immediately and are to be applied to all new and competing-renewal sponsored award proposals submitted to the Office of Research. Multiple year projects should reflect the appropriate rate for that fiscal year. For awards that extend beyond FY 11, the FY 11 rates should be utilized until amended.
2. For existing awards and non-competing continuations originally approved with a 48.5% F&A rate, the originally approved rates can continue to be used in the award application budgets until the award expires; or until instructed otherwise.

Many NIH applications request support for multiple years. An application is considered to be competing any time it is initially submitted for peer review. This includes first-time (Type 1, new), revised (Type 1, amended), and competing continuation (Type 2, competing renewal) applications. An application is considered to be non-competing when it is submitted as part of the progress report (Type 5) during the subsequent approved years which are not subject to peer review.

B. Sponsored Research

The classification of sponsored research projects as On-Campus or Off-Campus is solely for the purpose of applying the correct F&A rate.

On-Campus – A sponsored project is considered to be performed On-Campus if:

- the activity is conducted in a University-owned facility including regional campuses; or
- the activity is conducted in a University-leased facility and the cost of the lease is not charged directly to the sponsored project

The use of on-campus F&A cost rates precludes direct charging of facility lease costs to the sponsored project.

Off-Campus – A project is considered to be performed Off-Campus if:

- the activity is conducted in a University-leased facility and the cost of the lease is charged directly to the sponsored project; or
- the activity is conducted in a facility that the University does not own and for which the University does not incur a lease cost; or
- the activity is conducted in a Veteran’s Administration (VA) Hospital facility regardless of whether the University can charge the VA lease expense direct to the grant

Off-Campus Adjacent – This rate is applied when the location of the sponsored research enables physical access to University library facilities.

Off-Campus Remote – This rate is applied when the location of the sponsored research hinders physical access to University library facilities.

Apportioning Projects – When the activities of a sponsored research project occur in both on-campus and off-campus locations, the activities and related costs must be apportioned between on-campus and off-campus location components. Departments with qualifying projects should seek guidance as to the application of F&A cost rates to apportioned activities and related costs in the pre-award proposal phase of the award. Application of F&A cost rates to such projects will be determined on a case-by-case basis based on the facts and circumstances surrounding each award.

C. Sponsored Industrial/Commercial Programs

The sponsored industrial/commercial programs rate is not included in the federal rate agreement negotiated with the DHHS. This rate is applicable to industrial and commercial projects received from for-profit entities that are not providing Federal pass-through funds to the University and who rely on the University to propose an F&A cost rate in grant or contract negotiations. The rate is applied on the basis of MTDC.

D. Base of Application

F&A cost rates for grants, contracts, or agreements for research and other sponsored programs are to be applied on Modified Total Direct Costs (MTDC) unless otherwise stated under the specific terms of the agreement. The standard MTDC is defined as all project expenditures exclusive of the following:

Notes:

- (1) Commencing with new and competing-renewal applications, animal care per diem charges must be included in the MTDC calculations for F&A costs. The accounting for the direct cost charges for the animals themselves remains unchanged. For existing awards and non-competing continuations, all originally approved MTDC animal care cost exclusions can continue to be applied budgets until the award expires; or until instructed otherwise.
- (2) Depending upon grant specific requirements.
